

The world's best green interior projects and products

2015 International Green Interior Awards shortlist announcement

"This year we have received truly amazing and inspiring entries from around the world showing us that the greening of interiors is a healthy way forward for interior designers, architects, building owners and our environment." says Daphna Tal, Sustainable Interiors Consultant and Head Judge, Australian Living.

The International Green Interior Awards is a platform created by Australian Living in 2011 to inspire interior designers and architects to realise the beauty and benefits of integrating green interior products into projects.

These Awards also encourages manufacturers and innovators to design and make interior products that are healthy for us and our environment.

This year Australian Living has chosen to, once again, partner with Universal Magazines to deliver this unique Awards program.
